

Meet our Dance Instructor

Brittney Heard

Brittney was born in Gainesville and raised in Ocala, Florida where she danced with Honey's School of Dance through grade school. She continued dancing at Hillsborough Community College as a dance major into her adult life where she became owner of Be Heard Though Movement. She continues to represent central Florida as a professional dancer, choreographer and artistic director.

Brittney found that her relationship with dance works best when connecting with dancers in communities from any studio of all ages and experience levels through Be Heard Through Movement. She appreciates every applause before exiting the stage, but even more than that she is grateful for what God has given her to share. She knows she would not have made it this far without His grace.
